I have a question about the immunity idol you found.

I am not asking how far anyone went or who gets booted when, I already know that stuff.

My question is, did you finding it so early have any affect on whether you could use it or not? Because the rules and Jeff stated, your idol is hidden at the other campsite.

So you finding their idol would throw a wrench into the producers plans.

You actually found it without a clue and they never even considered that possibility, lmao.

So, is the idol you found, good for use, by you? Or, did they enforce that rule and it did you no good to find it because it was their idol?

Hey, my RAZORBACKS got killed in Bama today but your LSU TIGERS barely survived at MISS STATE. Thats how the SEC is!!!

Someone faints during an upcoming challenge and the challenge is not finished?

Hope its not Russell S. because I thought he left due to reaggravating an old injury.

So how does that have anything to do with a prior situation for him? High blood pressure maybe?

But Russell S is the one who faints - Dude I never know what you are saying yes to. Sorry but you are hard to read lol.

So - yes - means Russell S. is the one who faints. Yes?

My gut tells me the final 3 are you, Hot Natalie, and Mick.

Dont answer that yet, lol. Just yes or no on Russell fainting.

Oh and I also think Mick would have chosen Jaison to visit their camp since he needs some time away from you guys it seems.

LSU VS Florida this week.

I am also starting to think this person who was posting spoilers is just copying ours and they went too far and promised that final 3 for both seasons to be posted yesterday and they did not show up to do it. Hmmmmmm

One last thing - if you dont think I am pimping you, read the threads at what I am saying and read what I am being accused of. I am being accused of being your wife or a plant from CBS to pimp you out, LMAO.

Did I tell you that you are my 14 year old boy's favorite this year? He thinks you are funny how you are pulling these stunts on people. He loves wrestling so he thinks you are a perfect 'bad guy'. He loves your hate too. My dad used to wear one like it. So anyway, you do have a 14 year old fan for sure.

Toss me a bone for this episode.

Which of their tribe visited you this week after the Reward Challenge?

Or

Which one of you guys visited them?

I have already guessed if it was you guys I think Mick would sent Jaison to get him out of your hair for a day.

Give the dog a bone!! If you dont Florida is gonna kick your tail this weekend!!

Dude, you know I will copy it and post it on the board. All you had to do was ask.

Hell, they already trying to guess I am your wife anyway, lmao.

Oh, you didnt say which comes first, Russell passing the hell out or Ashley being voted out.

Also, what the hell kind of challenge when Probst dont even show up, what the hell was up with the producers on this season.

Challenge with no Probst. You lose a medivac but still have to go to TC. They dont. No family visits, no cars, then you had all that rain, dude they tried to kill ya'll.

About me:

Hey! First of all it's not all about me. I have a wonderful family. My husband has always been the only love of my life and I have 4 beautiful children whom I love dearly. I'm not a quiet person like most people remember me. Life has thrown so many surprises at me and has made me a stronger and more outspoken person. The biggest and most important aspect in life is honesty. Without that we have nothing. As most people know already, my husband is on Survivor 19 and is quite popular on the show. Being known as "The Evil Villain" has put quite a damper on his reputation, but at home he is not what people make him out to be. What people need to realize is that he's playing a game. He's not out there to make friends, he's got plenty of 'em already. He's playing the best he knows how and is actually making the show more entertaining. I know he's done crazy things on this show, but he's actually a great man and loves his family so please don't be so quick to judge. Remember, when your badmouthing him, your badmouthing my husband and my children's father...it can be hurtful to us too.
YOU DON'T HAVE TO PUT IT ON SPOILERS, JUST POST IT WHERE THEY WON'T TAKE IT OFF.

I just looked on myspace and dont see a spot where it says "about me"; I see the new picture of you and I see that you or your wife one is online right now, but I dont see that category "about me";.

I just saw a new commercial for tomorrow night too, you said "lets do this";.

Thats a new pic of you I guess cause you lost some major weight man.

If you can see where that "about me" is at, copy it and mail it to me or message it to me over at myspace. Be glad to post it. They will probably lock it or move it out of spoilers because the moderator will say its not a spoiler but I dont give a rats ass.

Some dude over there named survivrcuz has posted today the whole story you told me on the phone about how you got on the show. They knew the connection between you, Boo, and Erica. They knew that they kept Natalie hidden until the last minute at the airport. They also said some girl didnt get on the show because she had a pregnancy test and it was positive. Someone has been talking to that guy.
