@kimkardashian thank you for listening to my brothers story and hearing my cries. And actually taking action behind your words. Forever grateful.

Hi Kim. I'm so grateful for your love your giving us. Especially during this time. Wanted to talk to you about what I've experienced with my brother. His name was Stephon Clark, and was murdered by 2 officers 2 years ago in Sacramento California. Not sure if you've done your research or even seen his story but The cops are back working and we have no justice being served. We have fought time and time again to get some type of peace in this and the country of Sacramento keeps closing his case saying it wasn't a wrongful death. He had no weapons, was unarmed and died in our grandmas backyard. He died off 8 gunshot wounds but was shot at 20 times by the officers. My family is simply not strong enough to get the justice we deserve. Our mom has a bad drug problem and is in and out of drug/mental illness hospitals because of this. I'm seeing everyone around me receiving justice for the most part but my brother is not being mentioned. My voice is not powerful enough...

I know that you have more power and more privilege, and more access to possibly helping us. Please. He has 2 sons that are 3 and 5. My brother was only 22. I'm so heartbroken and my entire life and our family's life has completely changed. Most of them being on drugs to not feel the pain. I'm the only one with a conscious mind, not hooked on drugs, but still don't know what to do or what steps to take. It's not seen as a wrongful death because they are saying he was already suicidal (googled ways to die) on his phone. So the investigation keeps closing. No matter what. I've had suicidal thoughts constantly growing up and after this happened. But if I die next, Will it be excused as "we aren't wrong cos she already was sad" this is NOT okay. I'm so heartbroken his death is being excused over that. Please do some research on him and let me know if there's anything we can do. HIS NAME IS STEPHON CLARK. From Sacramento California. Our hometown. This has tore our entire life up.

Thank you so much again. Please please don't leave this on read and help others when there's still people that aren't getting the attention, the justice they serve. At lease speak about it for us, because my voice is simply not being heard. I love you for helping atlease the ones you can. Thank you again. All love ❤️ ❤️

Thank you for reaching out. Wow this is so sad and I'm so sorry for what you have gone through: not only losing your brother like this but also growing up with the people you trust most around you unable to be there for you because they are on drugs. I can't begin to tell you how much I understand that this is all really traumatizing for you and I'm so sorry

I emailed someone I know in Sacramento and will for sure post about your brother and bring as much awareness as possible
