

November 19, 2015

Mr. Derek Jeter,

We have been thinking about you today.

We are the newly launched lingerie site, Undies.com, a site that offers more than 5,000 different bra and underwear combinations. There is something for everyone. Undies.com was created to fill the void of quality intimates at a reasonable price point.

While we joined the rest of the nation in rooting for you on the field, we want to make sure that support continues off the field. It appears that your contract with Frigo went under. Assuming you are still on the market now to work with an underwear brand, we would love to offer you $25,000 to be our official spokesperson for the holiday season. We would also like to offer your fiancé a lifetime supply of sexy, comfortable Undies.com lingerie.

Because our brand embraces everyone, let's throw the public a curve ball with a partnership. We know people in the spotlight are often misunderstood, let us help you change any misconceptions.

Please call us as soon as possible to discuss the details at [REDACTED]

Sincerely,

Undies.com