Sunny can go with you to Austin. I will move to Austin as well. 50/50 is what is right and fair. I just need to know that's where you plan on growing roots. I know nothing of Austin but if that is where Sunny can have her mom and dad equally I'm in. She needs normalcy and privacy. I'm willing to work with you through counseling to better communicate with one another. She'll go to Waldorf. I plan on being very active with her schooling and activities. I think hockey would be great for her.

The press is a nasty way to live. They twist and distort and cause pain and grief. Sandra was the only one who handle it gracefully. And I choose to follow her example. I don't want to be the cause of pain to you or Sandra. I regret talking to them. I lashed out and made something out of nothing when I was told Sunny was moving away from me. I didn't handle it well. I believe you are a good man and with all that has happened you are now much wiser and if given the chance, with your wife again, you would not screw it up. I wish you well with that. I hope you believe my sincerity and the dream of us eventually getting along for the sake of all the kids. Sunny talked about "Louie" yesterday, she told me he doesn't like baths. She love and misses her baby brother. Sunny IS and will ALWAYS be my priority. I will not let you or her down. Talk is cheap but I'm ready to prove it. I learned a lot this past year...and I know more than anything I want to make our daughter proud of me like I'm certain you do as well. We're not bad people/parents....we just got off track and now we know how to make it right.

For what it's worth, I know you do not have ur eyes on anyone other than your wife. Cheap shot on my part. I'm sorry.

fyi...I don't give a shit about your money. Keep it. I raised Ty on my own I can do it again with Sunny. Just want Sunny to be happy.

Janine
