

Jeremy Frommer

Dear Jeremy,

First off, I'd like to congratulate you on the acquisition of the contents of the late, Bob Guccione's storage locker! Sounds like you found hidden treasure by finding some serious Hollywood "booty".

Allow me to introduce myself, my name is Corey Price and I am the Marketing Director for the largest adult site on the planet, youporn.com. Our website averages over 15 million unique visitors a day. Our surfers come to our site looking for the best adult content available, and it's all FREE! We'd like to seriously open a dialogue with you about purchasing the rights to publish the unpublished nude pics of the "Governator", Arnold Schwarzenegger going "Commando" performing a sex act.

We'd also like to publish the photos of Madonna and Lauren Hutton as well, but let's face it, the real value here is in Schwarzenegger's "Schwartz". Our surfers love celebrity sex tape clips. While Kim Kardashian is a celebrity who is famous for being famous, we'd love the ability to show the world the former Mr. Universe, Mr. Olympian, Former Governor of California, and Last Action Hero pumping his iron! We also would like to post these pictures on our sister site, pornhub.com to add to their already 2.5 million photos!

Being an investor and hedge fund specialist, I know you can understand that this asset's "net value" is at an all time high. We'd like to start by offering $150K for the pictures and contents. Please contact me and let's see how we can proceed forward in procuring the copyright for it's "Newsworthiness". We feel very confident we can publish these pictures without any fear of litigation.

Best Regards,

Corey Price
