

yizhouofficial  Part 1: It is with deep regret, sadness, and disappointment that I am compelled to share a truth I have been holding inside for too long.

Over the past months, I have lived with fear for my safety and deep distress over the treatment I have endured. No woman, filmmaker, or creative should have to work under such emotional and psychological pressure while trying to protect her name and the integrity of her work.

I am making an appeal to my fellow filmmakers, Academy voters, Hollywood peers, executives, and the women to stand with me. I feel profound despair that a project created to uplift below-the-line artists @chroniclesofdisney and to celebrate the history of one of the world's most beloved companies, Disney, has been damaged by online trolling and by the misconduct of Jeremy Renner. Mr. Renner first contacted me directly in June, sending personal and intimate photographs of himself, behavior that, according to public reports, he has exhibited before. He convinced me of his sincerity, saying he had been single for a long time and open to a long-term relationship. I believed in him, in the power of love, and in the possibility of redemption.

yizhouofficial  Part 2: Jeremy Renner later entered into written agreements with my Italian production company @intothesunfilms, granting signed consent for the use of his image, likeness, archival material, social-media content, and his foundation in our projects. Yet, after the project's release two weeks ago, he has refused to make any public promotion, despite our repeated pleas public and private for support. Instead, he has allowed without stepping up for false information to spread through fan accounts falsely claiming that the documentary was generated by AI and denying any personal relation or professional collaboration. These statements are untrue. Current industry and California regulations, including those advanced by Governor Gavin Newsom, make clear that AI tools such as Sora do not authorize the use of celebrity likeness without explicit consent.

When I called him out privately about his past misconduct and asked him to behave properly, to respect me as a woman and as a filmmaker, he threatened to call immigration/ICE on me, an act that deeply shocked and frightened me. Such behavior is unacceptable and emblematic of the imbalance of power that continues to harm women in our industry.

This misinformation and intimidation have not only caused personal and reputational harm to me but have also undermined the collective creative work and integrity of all the artisans who contributed to this film. The project, alongside its companion animated feature, @StardustFuturemovie @mastersofcinemaseries, was conceived to support his own foundation and the wildlife January victims with @mptf and to inspire hope in a future where technology and humanity can coexist peacefully.

I am deeply disappointed not only as a woman but also as a director, to see the truth distorted and power used to silence and erase. Organizations such as @amfar and media outlets that continue to honor Mr. Renner as a symbol of philanthropy should re-examine their stance, as no charity can serve as cover up for misconduct.

All statements are backed by written records.

yizhouofficial  Part 3: There must be no abuse of power in Hollywood, no abuse of love, neither against women, nor against truth, nor against art.

These 3 posts are intended to uncover unsaid truth about Hollywood and the conditions about how women and Asian filmmakers and filmmakers overall are still being mistreated. Many don't have a following, many don't have the media support like I do, I hope my story can be supported to combat such as imbalance of power that shocks as a thunder in the middle of a night tempest.

Believe me, it took me a long time, before I had the courage to write this and speak up, I thank my team, my agents / managers and friends / other women who supported me in voicing such a pain and humiliation I still have inside as I am typing these posts.

All statements are backed by written records.

yizhouofficial 🌟 Part 4: Although we cannot force anyone to publicly support our project, even those contractually involved, we had hoped that, given our projects directly benefit Jeremy Renner's own foundation, the Motion Picture Television Fund @mptf for wildfire relief, and below-the-line artists @mastersofcinemaseries whose work and legacy we seek to honor, there would be at least a minimal gesture of acknowledgment. Our documentary @chroniclesofdisneyofficial was independently produced with the gracious consent of the Disney team, a company that has employed Jeremy for many years. My story here is about how easily we, as women and creatives, can be deceived, not only by men, but by our own belief that human nature is inherently good.

When I learned of his past through certain articles shared by his own fans (the good fans), I was deeply shocked. Yet, I chose to believe that those incidents belonged to a previous chapter of his life, before his accident, and that he had changed. Unfortunately, recent weeks have shown me otherwise.

My team and I have spent countless hours each day cleaning our social media, blocking / deleting waves of hateful comments that accuse our documentary of being fake made with Ai without having had 1 word of public support from Jeremy in regards. This is despite the fact that we have spent months, often working overnight with our teams in Italy and in China despite the time difference, to bring this project to life with integrity and love. To see our work dismissed and defamed with misinformation during Oscar season is truly heartbreaking.

I speak up today not only for myself but for every woman who might find herself in a similar situation still today, silenced, intimidated, or afraid to lose work / opportunities for telling the truth. If we don't reveal what's behind the curtain, can there ever truly be justice in this industry or in this world?

yizhouofficial 🟦 I believed in a Disney fairy tale when Jeremy Renner reached out to me and pursued me: I thought until recently love was pure and his accident made him a new person therefore @chroniclesofdisney and @stardustfuturemovie included him and the fairytale I believed in was interwoven in the 2 works (which aim and commitment as previously reported are to be 100% donated to @mptf and to the below the line fund with NO gain for @intothesunentertainment). As this is a developing story of cyber flashing / unsolicited porn and smear campaign and domestic violence, I just found out thx to the courageous @joshtboswell there's another victim that just spoke to him and apparently he cheated on me with her! I have confessed to him some new details I have not shared in today's interview to Josh. I'm proud of the work he is doing in digging what Hollywood wants to hide and praise. Bravo @joshtboswell @dailymail we need more courage among media to support and uncover. Stay tuned. More to come, more scandal and misconduct. Many I was told seem to be fans he contacts at meet and greet or just online. How can we abuse of fans? He uses them for his own pleasure sends porn images then trashed them in the trash bin by ghosting. A pattern I was told is frequently exhibited by him.

I encourage other victims to speak up, Hollywood media to support us more in unpacking this truth and make Hollywood healthy and safe for women.

yizhouofficial 🌟 Many of you and Media reached out to me, asking why I did not disclose all of this and much more upcoming before. When I first received pornographic images, they were unwanted and unsolicited (cyber flashing). Then he talked me into having a relationship with him sold me his love. However, the truth that is the most devastating came out in the recent weeks when his set up fan smear campaign started devastating our documentary @chroniclesofdisney and our first ever animated feature @stardustfuturemovie, which will be released in a few weeks with the over of Jeremy Renner. As a woman and as a filmmaker being in a relationship with someone with whom you also have projects in the process of being released, I debated for a long time how to present it given the difficulties I went through and the truth I discovered slowly throughout the last few months. I thought it would be more respectful for myself and for him to present it under the denomination of love rather than a new relationship or a fling or whatever you wanna call it, I have always respected him and will continue to respect him, but the love and the respect has not been reciprocated when the smear campaign started attacking us and continue to attack us online, I thought the truth about him should come out and truth is a defense. I endured all the pain I went through and the humiliation to bring both projects to the finish line mostly in the name of all the people that helped bring the projects to life and to the causes that we want to support @mptf victims of the January wildfire and the Masters of Cinema with 100% of the proceeds from both project. I m sad to be frauded by love and to be denied of love publicly via his public silence and fans smear campaign of my / our projects' existence in his life.

yizhouofficial 🌟 Part 1: Last year, I wrote my first essay book @theartoftriumphtraumasexnart because a director @firsttimersseries pursued me for 1 year, even if we never had any intimate relationship, as I was in another long term relation, he made me believe I was someone very special and would call me for 5 hours a day, he would try to hold my hand while walking and tried several times to kiss me or grab my butt, dine and wine me for 8 hours asking for film finance for his movies that he can't get off the ground for 10 years +. I really wanted to help him and listened dialy as a shrink for about a year his daily confessions / issues. One day he told me he went to a sudden day road trip, I suspected he was hiding something, so I found out he was celebrating his 1 year anniversary with some woman in SF that he called back then as his weekend squeeze that he never saw. He would continue call and do things for me and my projects saying he would do anything for me. I felt loved in his lullaby and his constant support for my work. One day, I discovered on social media the SF Pr woman was 6 months pregnant and she tipped people mag and she wrote me an email via his email saying I will be devoted to my long time Gf (I mean the day before she was called weekend squeeze?) and I can't talk to you anymore nor help your projects. When she gave birth she took over his socials and blocked me so I can't work / be friends with him anymore. I was devastated by the treatment, the sadness of not being able to continue the projects with his support as before. I had no one to talk to, felt hopeless, almost suicidal as I felt life was so unjust. Then, i thought if I did not not die I should put all my sorrows and the lessons learned into a book, so other women can have a manual of survival @barnesandnoble.

The story of Lacy Magee reminds me of me last year, even if I was not in rehab and had no orgy / drug, the feeling of despair was the same. Hollywood can be a tough place if we are not mentally strong. Let us help one another, together as online community to be better, to survive and thrive.

yizhouofficial 🟩 Part 2: life and death is divided by the blink of an eye. Only the ones who have been through that dark space understand the fragility of it. As women, we can't be treated as trash, use and throw away, as the Italians would say "USA E GETTA." I felt less than a disposable item, like an old used sock, with my silly naive kindness towards that director @firsttimersseries and towards Jeremy. Although I feel better this year overall, the thought of last year and the idea of Lacy Magee petrifies me still. We can't play with our bodies, feelings, emotions without any consequences to feel desired but also thrown to the gutter is an awful feeling I wish no one should go through. I wish well to both men, but the scars left inside out of me will stay for a long time. I am sure many other women have gone through similar situations. I wish to use my social Media / voice to help others and talk about the unspoken on behalf of other victims as well.

Guess who the second person I am talking about is? Thoughts on DM.

Thank you to many people reaching out, thank you for the media support in unpacking this pain.

yizhouofficial  Part 3.

The Denial Tactic: in the post me too era and in the new me too 2025 era, the predators are much savvier. Let's UNPACK the ABC of their new playbook. They misbehave in person or in text but then, the trick is to send a disclaimer the next day or via his rep such as: "I don't want sex with you." "I don't like you at all." "You are not my type." "We never had anything." "I never met you." These sentences serve as their proof, they never played u around in case they need to show proof of innocence.

Any similar stories? Thoughts and ur receipts on DM.
