

Ms. Barbara Walters
C/O ABC NEWS

Dear Ms. Walters,

We'd like to personally thank you for your incredible support of the adult novelty industry this week. Thanks to you, and "Selfie" your magic wand, our business is buzzing at phallixglass.com!

The self satisfaction one can receive from the use of a personal massager or "wand" as we like to call them, is 100% natural and something no one should be ashamed of speaking about. I find it incredibly heroic of you to admit that at your age you still find the time to blow off some steam and take care of your womanly needs.

That's why we'd love to enter into a deeper discussion with you about our already developed line of wands with the needs of our over 60 clientele's slower speed in mind. Our most successful wand has been magically flying off the shelves this week due to your revelation is our "Dichroic wrapped" massage wand.

Dichroic is one of our favorite materials to work with because of its unique background. Modern dichroic glass is available as a result of materials research carried out by NASA and its contractors, who developed it for use in dichroic filters.

However, color changing glass dates back to at least the 4th century AD, though only a very few pieces, mostly fragments survive. It was also made in the Renaissance in Venice and by imitators elsewhere.

So very much like you, dichroic glass has a LOT of history. We are creating a line for you called the "Babs", it will come in black first with a variety of colors to come later. We would love to come together on a mutual agreement as soon as possible. I feel this partnership could really pop off by the Summer when our business usually climaxes. Please have your representatives reach out to me at their earliest convenience, and keep up your always excellent work. We are huge fans!

Best Regards,

Rick Plank
